

BIGGEST SHOW DRAWS ONE OF LARGEST CROWDS

Ringling Brothers Circus Splendid Traveling Performance

SHOW GROUND SMALL

Hardly Enough Room For Big Tent and None For Menagerie Section

"The biggest ever," and "the best ever." That is the verdict of people generally in regard to the Ringling Brothers circus, which exhibited here Saturday. Circus day has come and gone, and all the delightful thrills and sensations are now but a pleasant memory.

As a matter of fact the Ringling Brothers circus is not only the biggest show of the kind that ever exhibited in Charleroi but it is also the largest tented aggregation that was ever organized in the world for exhibition purposes. Charleroi and other people who attended the show Saturday had the pleasure of witnessing the biggest and best traveling performance of the kind ever before given anywhere in this or any other country. Those who confure with the awe inspiring names of Barnum or Forepaugh, in the days of independent circuses, a generation ago, are away behind the times. Barnum or Forepaugh, the old-time circus kings, never in their palmiest days had an outfit anywhere nearly so large as the Ringling Brothers show is this season.

A circus is judged nowadays by the number of cars it carries. Barnum or Forepaugh never had more than 60 or 65 cars at the most in any of their biggest seasons. Ringling Brothers have 86 cars to carry their outfit, and 16 sleepers and baggage cars to take care of their performers and professional people. That's the size of the Ringling show this season—an outfit which no other show in this country ever had before in the history of the show business.

So big was the outfit that the grounds here were not nearly large enough to accommodate it. Instead of the six pole top of the main tent, which was pitched diagonally across the entire length of the baseball park only five poles could be used. There was not a room at all for the menagerie tent, so the cages and vans were lined up in the open between the main tent and the northwest corner of the baseball park fence, which served a good purpose. Dressing room tents had to be cut down, and some of the equipment for the performances had to be prepared in the open outside the ball park that was roped off.

The ground manager, who was here last season with the Forepaugh & Sells circus, was of the opinion that he could put the Ringling outfit on these grounds, but a trial convinced him he was in error when he hazarded the opinion. Incidentally it may be stated the Forepaugh & Sells circus which is controlled by the Ringling Brothers, as well as the Barnum & Bailey show, is on the shelf this season it not being deemed advisable to put too many shows on the road in a Presidential year.

While the crowd in Charleroi Saturday was no larger than on many previous occasions, it was sufficient to fill the big tent comfortably full in the afternoon, and with perhaps three-

Arranging For Debate

Edward Callaghan, Presidential Candidate Visits Flinn in Pittsburgh

Hon Edward Callaghan, candidate for the Democratic nomination for President, went to Pittsburgh today, to confer with William Flinn, the leader of the Roosevelt forces in Pennsylvania, regarding a debate on the initiative, referendum and recall. Mr. Callaghan challenged Flinn to a debate several days ago and has received an acceptance. His conference today will be to make arrangements as to the date and the place of holding the affair. He is opposed to the initiative, referendum and recall.

YEGGS IN WAKE OF BIG SHOW

Members of "Perfesh" Here to Play Their Trade Saturday

DETECTIVES WATCHFUL

The appearance here Saturday of Ringling Brothers' shows was the signal for the gathering of various kinds of "yeggs" and crooks, but such was the watchfulness of the borough police and a number of detectives who were here, that so far as can be learned their visit brought them very little if any reward.

Members of the pickpocket "perfesh" it is stated were here, two of them, according to some of the detectives, hailing from St. Louis. They were not following the circus exactly but had been trailing it since it appeared at Wheeling.

County Detective William McCleary was here to see that nothing went wrong, and Ringlings' things, J. H. Bryce, was watching things. In addition to those and the city force there were two members of Pittsburgh's city detective force and several of the Pennsylvania railroad's secret service men here. It is said also there were three members of the State constabulary in plain clothes, mingling with the crowds.

Chief of Police and his two regular men were assisted in their work by a corps of deputies, so that it would have been hard for any of the supposed "yeggs" to have operated successfully.

CIRCUS DAY PROVES BOON TO BUSINESS

Business Men Did Heavy Trade Saturday—Many Strangers Combine Business Visit With Holiday

Notwithstanding the general impression among merchants that show day Saturday would not be good for business purposes, the most of them acknowledge that the crowds brought in on account of the circus did considerable extra buying. Inquiry at the various stores and business places shows that the most of them did considerable more business than they did the previous Saturday or ordinarily in a "big pay" Saturday, which means a three-weeks pay.

As a matter of course the hotels, restaurants, ice cream and soda water establishments had a big day. While perhaps the crowds from nearby points did not buy much in the line of staples, those from further points did, and many from the farming districts made "show day" the occasion to come to Charleroi to do some shopping as well as to attend the show. It was an ideal day, as although the day was fair, the previous heavy rains made it unsuitable for farm work, so the farmers could turn out without neglecting their work.

President John B. Schafer of the Charleroi Business Men's Association, who keeps close tab on trade conditions said:

"I noticed a big increase in my business over the ordinary Saturday trade. It was really like old times, when I used to hang up from 40 to 50 watches on a Saturday for repairs. I also ran ahead considerably on my sales."

Another merchant said that at noon his cash register had more business chalked up than for all of the previous Saturday's business, and the bulk of a Saturday's trade comes usually in the evening. Considerable business was also done with the show people, many of whom had some Saturday shopping to do.

The chief reason why merchants dislike to see a show come to town on a Saturday is that they figure that they'll have a good trade anyhow on that day, and that if the show comes on a week day it will bring an extra big day.

CHURCH LEAGUE TO OPEN TUESDAY

Catholics and First Presbyterians to Meet in First Struggle of Season

The Charleroi church league will open this week for the ensuing season the first game to be played tomorrow night, when the First Presbyterians and Catholics will meet. Today will be spent by the ground keepers in fixing up the grounds, which were considerably torn up on Saturday by the circus. The games for the week are as follows: Tuesday—First Presbyterians and Catholics; Wednesday—Lutherans and Christians; Thursday—Methodists and Episcopalists; Friday—Washington Avenue Presbyterians and Baptists.

BRIGADE TO HOLD VACATION OUTING

Will Camp at Conneaut Lake—Capt. Wallgren to Head Company

In order to secure funds for a camping outing the Boys Brigade of the Washington avenue church conducted a refreshment stand on the vacant lot on Second street near the show grounds Saturday. They did very well and netted a creditable sum. They also propose to hold a supper to still further augment the fund at the Washington avenue Presbyterian church Tuesday night.

The outing will be held on the shores of Conneaut Lake, where the Brigade will camp for ten days, during the first two weeks in June. The brigade will be in charge of Capt. Charles Wallgren, a veteran of the Spanish-American war, who has command of the local organization. It is stated that a number of members of the Boys Brigade from other towns want to join the Charleroi command in the outing.

TWENTY-TWO ARE NABBED BY POLICE

Nineteen Men and Three Women Constitute Guests at Borough Lockup

Nineteen men and three women—that was the toll of the police drag-net on circus day Saturday. There were three fights, but drunkenness formed the worst and most conspicuous violation. The three women, two whites and one colored were arrested for drunkenness. They were each fined $1.00 and costs, and all forced to spend their Sunday in the female quarters of the lockup. The average fine for the men when Burgess Riebeck held court Sunday morning was $1.00 and costs.

It was a noticeable feature that while the trouble originated because of circus day, none of it came directly from the circus. People were here from up and down the river. Two California men came and it is said acquired too heavy a load of fire water with the result that they decided to fight it out. They did, and the police took a hand.

A man named Leyda of Charleroi, apparently well under the influence of liquor, it is stated deliberately hit a man knocking him down. He then it is stated resisted arrest, but was unceremoniously cast in the darkest cell of the borough lockup. It is probable that Chief of Police C. W. Albright will enter information against him before a justice, Leyda having offended before.

Practically all the other disturbances were of a minor character.

DIES FROM INJURIES RECEIVED IN A MINE

Egnit Pulchuch, aged 45 years, and a well known Russian, died at the McKeesport hospital Sunday from the result of injuries received in a fall of slate at a Pricedale mine last Friday. Pulchuch was married and had several children: He lived at 1214 Prospect avenue.

BACCALAUREATE FIRST COMMENCEMENT EVENT

Sunday Ball Flourishing

Donora Team Play Mt. Oliviers and Beat Them—Opposition Develops

In spite of the protests of the ministerial association of Donora and certain of the church people of that place, Sunday baseball is flourishing there. Sunday the Mt. Oliver team played and got beaten by the score of 5 to 1. Sutherland, a Monongahela valley boy pitched for Donora, and Guder and Makepeace, formerly of the Charleroi Independents were on the receiving line. Friend and Hirth formed the battery for the Mt. Oliver baseballers.

Not long ago the ministerial association and church people circulated a petition asking the authorities to prevent Sunday baseball. The promoters of the enterprise apparently paid no attention. A big crowd attended the game.

SCHEDULE TO BE PUT INTO EFFECT

Nine O'clock Morning Train to be Best in History

TO MAKE FEW STOPS

When the spring change of schedule is made on the Monongahela division, P. R. R. the best train in the history of the division will be installed. This will be train No. 147, which will leave Charleroi by the new schedule at 9:04 o'clock in the morning. It will make stops at West Monessen, Donora, Monongahela, and Clairton, reaching Pittsburgh in an hour and eleven minutes.

Another change will be in the return of the same train, which will leave Pittsburgh at 4:55 o'clock, reaching Charleroi at 6:21. It has been reaching here at 6:31. This train will not be nearly so fast as one as the morning train inbound, and there has been some dissatisfaction expressed as a result.

FIVE-YEAR-OLD BUMPS INTO BUGGY

Edgar George, the five-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph George of Washington avenue, had a narrow escape from injury Sunday evening when he got in front of a buggy driven by Dr. D. E. Kimmell. The lad was at the corner of Fifth street and Fallowfield avenue, when suddenly his attention was attracted by something across the street. He started on a run. Just at that time Mr. Kimmell drove up and the lad bumped into the wheel. Fortunately he was not seriously hurt.

Rev. F. A. Richards Preaches to High School Class

MUST ACQUIRE WISDOM

Charges Graduates to Not Live For Material Things Alone

That wisdom comes from God—the wisdom one must have to succeed was the general theme of the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of High School preached by Rev. F. A. Richards at the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday evening. Rev. Richards had as his text, Proverbs 2:13 and 4, which treat of the true wisdom and its source. The church was filled to overflowing for the occasion, and the scene with the eleven members of the class and the members of the faculty occupying special seats directly in front of the minister, was a striking one.

Rev. Richards spoke of character building as an every day occurrence and said that the kind of wisdom needed as the architect for this character building was not of the sort that says the end justify the means, but of the moral and spiritual kind, which is the wisdom through religion.

Rev. Richards spoke of the need of a broad intellect, but warned the young people against the somewhat common error of leaving Divine things out of the reckoning when building up the intellectual characters. His closing words were:

"Young people of the graduating class: Be sure that you get wisdom—wisdom that comes from God. Let him be the architect of your fortune, that your destiny will be not only to grow in knowledge but in wisdom."

The service was really a union service, and Revs. John R. Burson, E. N. Duty, J. T. Hackett and C. P. Bastian assisted Rev. Richards. Special chorus music was rendered by the choir of the Methodist Episcopal Bosson. Miss Norma Bosson rendered church under the direction of A. E. ed a violin solo.

Class night will be observed Tuesday and commencement Thursday.

SUNDAY CONCERT FEATURE AT PARK

The first Sunday of the opening of Eldora Park drew a large attendance. Many took occasion to spend a part of the day in the open there and people were in attendance from all along the valley. Louhi's Monessen band gave two concerts, one in the afternoon and one in the evening, which added to the pleasure of the beautiful surroundings. Two picnics are to be held at the park this week. There are the Charleroi public schools and the Monongahela public schools which will hold forth on Thursday and Friday respectively.

HINTS TO THE HANDICAPPED

Writer in Atlantic Monthly Tells Them How They May Make Best of Life.

Grow up as fast as you can. Cultivate the widest interest you can, and cherish all your friends. Cultivate some artistic talent, for you will find it the most durable of satisfactions, and perhaps one of the surest means of livelihood as well. Achievement is, of course, on the knees of the gods; but you will at least have the thrill of trial, and, after all, not to try is to fail. Taking your disabilities for granted, and assuming constantly that they are being taken for granted, make your social intercourse as broad and as constant as possible. Do not take the world too seriously, nor let too many social conventions oppress you. Keep sweet your sense of humor, and above all do not let any morbid feelings of inferiority creep into your soul. You will find yourself sensitive enough to the sympathy of others, and if you do not find persons who like you and are willing to meet you more than half way, it will be because you have let your disability narrow your vision and shrink up your soul. It will be really your own fault, and not that of your circumstances. In a word, keep looking outward; look out eagerly for those things that interest you, for persons who will interest you, and be friends with you, for new interests and for opportunities to express yourself.—Atlantic Monthly.

CANNIBALS WHO CHEW GUM

Traveler Finds the Seris Kindly and Affectionate and Quite Without Deadly Weapons.

Though it seems rather a pity to shatter romantic illusions and myths in a world from which romance (of that kind, anyway) is fading rapidly, yet it must be said that there are only two old, useless rifles in the hands of the tribe, and at the time of our visit only two bows and a couple of quivers full of arrows, not one of which was headed. And now they haven't those, for we bought them for souvenirs.

Among themselves, at any rate, however they may have behaved to strangers in the past, the Seris were as kindly and even affectionate a lot of people as I have ever had the good fortune to encounter. Never did we see a mother or father slap a child. Never was anger displayed or irritation. They were continually sharing with each other the little gifts we made them. Really, you know, when you see a group of alleged cannibals sharing chewing-gum, (the first they had ever tasted) from mouth to mouth and enjoying themselves hugely, respect for travelers' tales of blood and thunder goes down a peg or two.—Michael Williams in Outing.

Lessons in Etiquette.

Those who have dined in restaurants or hotels, habitually will find that they have fallen into many unpleasant little ways, permissible possibly toward a landlord, but not toward a hostess. They feel that they have the privilege both to criticize openly and to imply criticism either of the food itself or of the way in which it is served. Women who cherish the ambition of making poor, forlorn habitués of hotels happy with "home cooking" have their hopes dashed by this ungracious habit. Let those, too, who have fallen into the habit of dipping a spoon or fork into a glass of water and then wiping it on a napkin before using it beware of these moments when they become deeply absorbed in conversation at the house of a friend or even at the home table. Could any habit be more insulting to a hostess?—Harper's Bazar.

A Stupid Hunter.

Returning from two months spent on a ranch he was telling a story of hunting in the hills with an Englishman. "All of us were out hunting one day," said he, "and the Englishman shot at everything that moved. If the wind carried a cloud of dust upward, you could depend on 'is' lustship to shoot at it. So it happened that he narrowly missed shooting a young woman, who, with her husband, was visiting on the ranch. When our party returned the husband, boiling angry, approached the Englishman and said: "Look here, you damned stupid ass, you missed shooting my wife by an inch."

"Aw, missed her!" said the Englishman, either a onished or perplexed. "By an inch, by Jove! Well, old man, I'm sorry, very sorry."

Nails in Hard Wood.

It will be found almost impossible to drive thin steel nails into hard wood, for the moment you hit them hard enough to puncture the wood they bend over on themselves. Many people employ the use of a small gimlet to bore the hole destined to hold the nail, and few people know that if yellow soap is rubbed on the nail it can be driven in the hardest wood with ease. This trick was learned by a carpenter, who discovered it accidentally. Now whenever he is working with hard wood he keeps a cake of soap near by and sticks it full of nails, using them as he needs them. He also has a deep hole cut in the handle of his favorite hammer and keeps it filled with soap in which to stick the nails if the cake of soap is not conveniently near.

WHERE PLATINUM IS FOUND

Rare Metal in Small Quantities Usually Is Associated With Gold in Gravel Beds.

Platinum is found associated with gold, principally in gravel beds. The ordinary source is accumulations of gravel which have been eroded from extensive area and gradually concentrated in one locality by the continued action of water. It is a rare metal and the accumulation must be from a great extent of country if a paying deposit is to be developed.

Platinum is of a silver gray color which is rarely tarnished. Its development is similar to gold, except that where gold is usually associated with quartz and light colored rocks platinum will be found more commonly with dark colored rocks, and especially those of a greenish shading.

It is found only in small quantities, except at two or three localities. Western Colombia and eastern Russia have gravel beds which afford the principal supply of this metal. Elsewhere it is found over considerable areas, but not sufficiently concentrated to be of importance. It may be looked for among the formations adjacent to regions of old volcanic activity.

The distribution is principally in altered rocks, and segregation seems to have been the principal cause contributing to its collection in ore bodies. The deposits found up to the present time have been of irregular mineralization and not of great extent, consequently all platinum deposits must be considered with caution.

Of the rare metals associated with platinum, iridium, osmium, palladium and others, little need be said because of their rarity. If found they will be associated with platinum and will be known by the greater hardness, brighter surface and greater specific gravity.—Moody's Magazine.

THREAD DOES SLEUTH WORK

Milwaukee Merchant Devises a Clever Scheme to Get Rid of a Troublesome Shoplifter.

The manager of a local department store took an efficacious method of ridding himself of a troublesome petty shoplifter recently. The woman has been coming into the store and picking up a small remnant, spool of thread, thimble or other article that happened to be lying about, having little intrinsic value, but being nevertheless a source of annoyance to both the clerk and the management. Because of the position of the woman, it was undesirable to institute an action.

A few days ago the manager took a spool of silk from the case, fastened the loose end of the thread with a tack, and allowing a bit of slack, left it upon the counter. It was not long before his party arrived, and deftly dropping the spool into her shopping bag, started out. The manager detached the loose end and followed her up the street, a few yards in the rear. He trailed her into another downtown store, and, as she was standing beside a counter in the midst of a crowded array of bargain seekers, approached her, calmly winding his thread and politely said:

"Madame, I'll trouble you for that spool of thread."

What followed can be more easily imagined than described. He got the thread and has not been troubled with losses since, nor have the other stores, so far as may be learned.—Milwaukee Free Press.

Bearded "Ladies."

M. Brandt, a Danish professor, comes to the conclusion that bearded ladies in time to come will be the order of the day. Ladies with beards who are now to be seen may be regarded as the precursors of the future race, and the professor comes to the conclusion that the more masculine woman becomes in her habits so much the more will she be in appearance. He does not think that bearded ladies will become general until at least two centuries have elapsed. His investigations show that the number of women with traces of mustaches, although clearly visible, increases but slowly. The Paris contemporary from which we take the foregoing suggests that the professor has missed the great point which he might have made and that is that as the number of men who shave increases daily it would follow that women would endeavor to grow beards from sheer perversity.

"Aeropetomanie."

Some months ago a learned professor at the Sorbonne wrote to the Parisian papers proposing that the word "petomanie" be used as a term to designate the aviator, the word petomanie being based, he explained, on the Greek root "pet," to fly. Another learned person says that the word harks back to the earliest days of aerostation, and quotes from Der Deutsche Merkur (the German Mercury), published by Wieland at Weimar, in October, 1783, which speaks of "Aeropetomanie," or the latest progress in flying.

The Ruling Passion.

"How is Mrs. Dumley? I understand the doctor gave her up?" "Yes, he did. But she's better. The other day she thought she was sinking and sent in a hurry for her women neighbors." "Well." "In ten minutes they were all playing bridge."

"EIGHTS" ARE THEIR HOODOOS

Postal Clerks Say Stamps of That Denomination Cause Them Much Financial Loss.

When a meek little man stepped up to the stamp window in a branch office and asked for an eight cent stamp he caused as much consternation as if he had demanded "your money or your life."

All the clerks came to the window to take a look at him. They muttered to one another and made strange and fantastic signs, crossed their fingers, knocked on wood and did various other things that are supposed to drive away evil spirits.

"We're just out of eight cent stamps," a clerk finally stammered. "Got lots of two and ones."

"Well, gimme a five and a three," said the meek little man, upon receiving which he paid for them and departed.

"What's the matter with the eights?" queried an inquisitive spectator.

The stamp clerk was still too nervous to answer, but one of the others said, with a smile:

"Eights are hoodoos. None of the small offices handle them if they can help it. It's this way: They are just a wee shade different in color from the ones and it is no infrequent thing for a stamp clerk in a hurry to hand out a lot of eights when ones are asked and paid for. It always costs him seven cents a stamp when he does it. The clerk here the other day, during the rush hour, when the offices are closing, was called upon for a dollar's worth of ones. He handed out a hundred eights instead. Cost him seven dollars. Then he got rid of all the rest of the eights and now he won't have anything to do with eights. Even says 'eaten' instead of 'ate.'"

Revenge for Her Sex.

Many men make a business of marrying women, securing their money and then deserting them. One woman in New England has taken it upon herself to avenge the wrongs of her sex in this line. This woman, who is described as "young, handsome and winning," is charged with having "fitted" from one military post to another, making her choice from the eligible young officers, captivating them, becoming the bride of each in turn, securing all the money possible from each and then "fitted" again. She has shown that the opposite sex has no monopoly in this sort of business. But whether she is actuated by desire to prove such condition or by purposes of gain is not made evident.—Chicago Journal.

The "Civil War."

Hereafter it may be officially "the Civil war" instead of "the war of the rebellion." If an amendment to a bill adopted by the house of representatives at Washington shall go through. The action is not of much moment one way or another. The American public have dropped into the habit of calling the great struggle the Civil war, and no one will seriously oppose the new usage in congressional enactments. In fact, the change is in its way significant of the better feeling and stronger nationality that have succeeded those four years of bloody strife.

Plea for Lives of Birds.

"One billion dollar loss each year is suffered by farmers and fruit growers of this country by reason of the reckless and senseless destruction of bird life," declared the president of the League of American Sportsmen, Pa. He is a recognized authority on the subject of American game and declares that reliable statistics show that the crop values of the country are $1,000,000,000 a year less than they would be if birds were as plentiful as formerly, so that more insect pests would be destroyed.

Laments Forgotten Art.

We have a great many amateur hunters nowadays, and not all of them understand how to blow a horn, or have the knowledge of the few calls which are in these degenerate times used in hunting. Even among professional hunters the science of the hunting horn is much neglected.—London Illustrated Sporting and Dramatic News.

Unmarried Women in Cities.

In Chicago, out of every 1,000 women in the age period from 25 to 29, at the last count, there were 314 who were unmarried. In Denver there were 331. In Manhattan and the Bronx there were 356. In Minneapolis there were 368. In Philadelphia there were 387.

WHY WOMEN GO TO PRISON

Most of Them En Through Idleness, Unwise Marriages, Ignorance, Youth and Friendliness.

The causes that bring women to prison are seldom of personal or even of direct moral significance. Women seldom use their wits to break the law, nor do most of their crimes demand a quick intelligence. They are in the main the result of a lack of training in trades, inconsiderate marriages, ignorance, youth, friendliness, the general ungilded condition of girls: non-employment, low wages, overcrowding in tenements, nervous tension, and the high-pressure life of the average female factory employee. These and other like causes produce the so-called artificial offenses, such as inebriety, untruthfulness and minor breaches of the law which are mostly the result of overstrain. It has often been said that the barometer of crime rises as that of prosperity falls, and this is particularly true as regards the crimes of women. The thousands of women factory workers in every manufacturing city are never more than a few days from actual want. Given a period of overproduction or a depression in trade, and the women's prisons fill with these despairing, idle workers. In New England, when the factories are running with a full force of operatives, there is a decided slump in the prison population, for all goes well with even these weaker spirits so long as they earn enough to eat every day and have a place to sleep every night. From "The Care of Women in State Prisons," by Jeanne Robert, in the American Review of Reviews.

Fish That Eat Oysters.

As a result of recent investigations, T. Southwell finds that the fishes most destructive to pearl oysters are those commonly known as globe fish. Another fish belonging to the group known as Pagrus is seldom or never found without oysters in its stomach. The larger species of rays and sharks are suspected of committing great ravages in the oyster beds, but hitherto Mr. Southwell has not been able to convict them by finding oysters inside them.—London Globe.

Lifting Fire Hose by Elevators.

The latest idea for raising water for fire-extinguishing purposes to the uppermost floors of tall buildings is to lift the hose by means of the passenger or freight elevators. A simple attachment is provided for affixing the hose to the floor of the elevator, the hose being coiled up in the bottom of the shaft so as to be easily raised.

In a recent demonstration at Memphis, Tenn., says Popular Mechanics, it was said that the water arrived at the sixth floor of a building practically as soon as the floor was reached by the elevator, and the fire chief of that city recommended the compulsory adoption of the device by all buildings provided with elevators. The hose is inserted in the attachment about two sections behind the discharge nozzle, these sections being coiled on the elevator floor.

Of Course.

A man in a near-by town fell down the cellar steps the other day with a barrel of apples on top of him. He broke his left leg, his right arm, two ribs, his nose, one finger, cut his scalp, sprained his ankle and put his shoulder out of joint. But he didn't groan or cuss until his wife inquired if it "hurt him." Then he did bawl.

Tranent cellery, Haddingtonshire, from which coal has been taken for nearly 700 years, was closed recently. For many years women went down the mines at Tranent and worked with the men. One or two old women who were formerly engaged in the mines are still living in the district.—London Daily Mail.

TROLLEY LINES HANDLE CROWDS

Practically All Available Cars
Put Into Use on Saturday

The incoming and outgoing crowds coming from and returning to nearby towns were well handled Saturday by the Pittsburgh Railways company, the Westside trolley line and the Pennsylvania railroad. Extra cars were run on both the trolley lines and the railroad used extra coaches.

C. R. Buchanan, the division superintendent of the Pittsburgh-Charleroi line looked after the crowds coming from Roscoe, Monongahela, Donora and other towns by car and saw to it that they were well provided for. There were immense crowds streaming into town all day long and even Donora cars were sent here. Owing to the excellent system inaugurated by Mr. Buchanan and his competent force, there was practically no delay, everybody reaching their destination in good time.

Crowds came from Monessen and Belle Vernon by the Westside line it is said every available car was in use. From California and Brownsville and even from Rice's Landing came by train. There were even visitors seen here from Carmichaels and other parts of Greene county.

Will Visit Italy.

Mrs. Louis Brusa is making arrangements to visit Italy this season. She will leave Thursday for New York and will sail from there Friday. Her family and friends very much regret her departure, but the illness of her father makes her presence imperative. She will sail on the steamship Oceania to Genoa and expects to remain the greater part of the summer.

George Viabel.

George Viabel, aged 45, a well known Austrian died at his home at 1112 Prospect avenue Sunday. The funeral will be held Tuesday at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in Calvary cemetery.

Cares for the Birds.

Many women have taken great interest in the Audubon society, a concrete illustration being the Mary Dutcher memorial fund and the Sage fund. The Mary Dutcher fund was named in memory of the daughter of Mr. Dutcher, who was the spirit of the Audubon society organization; $7,548 has been contributed to the fund by the friends of Mr. Dutcher. Mrs. Sage, who loves birds and all wild animals, began her work by a gift of $500, to be used for the care of the robins, and a few days afterwards she followed the gift with another of $5,000, as she had found that in the South the robin is regarded as a game bird, and consequently needs better protection. She will give $5,000 for the next two years to make the protection of this bird more adequate. Field agents will be engaged with the funds she has placed at the disposal of the society, and they will try to see that any law in reference to the bird is obeyed.

A Cure for the Blues.

What! Moping just because the skies are dull and dark, and gray? Dejected, long faced just because the rain beats down today? Why, bless you, child! It doesn't help! To let the tears drip, too. Just wipe your eyes and look around. For some good work to do.

There's nothing helps when you are blue. Like helping set things right, Kind service fills the darkest day. With sweetness and with light. And when you're feeling out of sorts The very wisest plan. Is to find out what others want And help them all you can.

So look around and study up Some helpful thing to do; You'll find that cheering others' lives Will brighten life for you. Look up the real unfortunates. And ease their aches and pains, And while you feel you're doing good You'll never know it rains!

fourths as many at night. Those who sized up the crowds estimate that from 14,000 to 15,000 were in attendance at the two performances.

The show itself was away above the ordinary—the best that money can produce, inasmuch as this is the biggest show on the road and takes in all the big cities in its itinerary. The Joan of Arc pageant and ballet was on a scale of magnificence parallel to the biggest spectacular scenes attempted in theatres, to witness which people pay more than the admission price of the circus. The acts were the leading and newest thrills in the acrobatic, equestrian and hippodrome line, and everything was original, genuine, with no fakes or make-believes. The menagerie was much larger than that ordinarily carried, and some remarkably fine specimens were shown—two rhinoceri, one of them a two-horned specimen. A giraffe, a rare animal in captivity, was also to be seen. There were 34 elephants and nearly a score of camels with the outfit.

The street parade was the biggest ever seen in Charleroi, the glittering and showy pageant taking more than half an hour to pass a given point.

The big show came and went with less confusion or excitement than attended the coming and going of the outside spectators. For a day the population was augmented by a well drilled and organized town, and the horses, if have turned loose, would have stocked a good-sized western ranch. Charleroi people were fortunate in getting an opportunity to witness the Ringling Brothers shows at home, as this point was only selected as a filler between Uniontown and Pittsburg to prevent an idle day in the latter city.

Ringling Brothers Circus Splendid Traveling Performance

SHOW GROUND SMALL Hardly Enough Room For Big Tent and None For Menagerie Section

"The biggest ever," and "the best ever." That is the verdict of people generally in regard to the Ringling Brothers circus, which exhibited here Saturday. Circus day has come and gone, and all the delightful thrills and sensations are now but a pleasant memory.

As a matter of fact the Ringling Brothers circus is not only the biggest show of the kind that ever exhibited in Charleroi but it is also the largest tented aggregation that was ever organized in the world for exhibition purposes. Charleroi and other people who attended the show Saturday had the pleasure of witnessing the biggest and best traveling performance of the kind ever before given anywhere in this or any other country. Those who confound with the awc inspiring names of Barnum or Forepaugh, in the days of independent circuses, a generation ago, are away behind the times. Barnum or Forepaugh, the old-time circus kings, never in their palmiest days had an outfit anywhere nearly so large as the Ringling Brothers show is this season.

A circus is judged nowadays by the number of cars it carries. Barnum or Forepaugh never had more than 60 or 65 cars at the most in any of their biggest seasons. Ringling Brothers have 86 cars to carry their outfit, and 16 sleepers and baggage cars to take care of their performers and professional people. That's the size of the Ringling show this season—an outfit which no other show in this country ever had before in the history of the show business.

So big was the outfit that the grounds here were not nearly large enough to accommodate it. Instead of the six pole top of the main tent, which was pitched diagonally across the entire length of the baseball park only five poles could be used. There was not a room at all for the menagerie tent, so the cages and vans were lined up in the open between the main tent and the northwest corner of the baseball park fence, which served a good purpose. Dressing room tents had to be cut down, and some of the equipment for the performances had to be prepared in the open outside the ball park that was roped off.

The ground manager, who was here last season with the Forepaugh & Sells circus, was of the opinion that he could put the Ringling outfit on these grounds, but a trial convinced him he was in error when he hazarded the opinion. Incidentally it may be stated that the Forepaugh & Sells circus which is controlled by the Ringling Brothers, as well as the Barnum & Bailey show, is on the shelf this season it not being deemed advisable to put too many shows on the road in a Presidential year.

While the crowd in Charleroi Saturday was no larger than on many previous occasions, it was sufficient to fill the big tent comfortably full in the afternoon and with perhaps three-

Arranging For Debate

Edward Callaghan, Presidential Candidate Visits Flinn in Pittsburgh

Hon Edward Callaghan, candidate for the Democratic nomination for President, went to Pittsburgh today, to confer with William Flinn, the leader of the Roosevelt forces in Pennsylvania, regarding a debate on the initiative, referendum and recall. Mr. Callaghan challenged Flinn to a debate several days ago and has received an acceptance. His conference today will be to make arrangements as to the date and the place of holding the affair. He is opposed to the initiative, referendum and recall.

YEGGS IN WAKE OF BIG SHOW

Members of "Perfesh" Here to Play Their Trade Saturday

DETECTIVES WATCHFUL

The appearance here Saturday of Ringling Brothers' show was the signal for the gathering of various kinds of "yeggs" and crooks, but such was the watchfulness of the borough police and a number of detectives who were here, that so far as can be learned their visit brought them very little if any reward.

Members of the pickpocket "perfesh" it is stated were here, two of them, according to some of the detectives, hailing from St. Louis. They were not following the circus exactly but had been trailing it since it appeared at Wheeling.

County Detective William McCleary was here to see that nothing went wrong, and Ringling's detective, J. H. Bryce, was watching things. In addition to those and the city force there were two members of Pittsburgh's city detective force and several of the Pennsylvania railroad's secret service men here. It is said also there were three members of the State constabulary in plain clothes, mingling with the crowds.

Chief of Police and his two regular men were assisted in their work by a corps of deputies, so that it would have been hard for any of the supposed "yeggs" to have operated successfully.

CIRCUS DAY PROVES BOON TO BUSINESS

Business Men Did Heavy Trade Saturday—Many Strangers Combine Business Visit With Holiday

Notwithstanding the general impression among merchants that show day Saturday would not be good for business purposes, the most of them acknowledge that the crowds brought in on account of the circus did considerable extra buying. Inquiry at the various stores and business places shows that the most of them did considerable more business than they did the day before.

ordinarily in a "big pay" Saturday, which means a three-weeks pay. As a matter of course the hotels, restaurants, ice cream and soda water establishments had a big day. While perhaps the crowds from nearby points did not buy much in the line of staples, those from further points did, and many from the farming districts made "show day" the occasion to come to Charleroi to do some shopping as well as to attend the show. It was an ideal day, as although the day was fair, the previous heavy rains made it unsuitable for farm work, so the farmers could turn out without neglecting their work.

President John B. Schafer of the Charleroi Business Men's Association, who keeps close tab on trade conditions said:

"I noticed a big increase in my business over the ordinary Saturday trade. It was really like old times, when I used to hang up from 40 to 50 watches on a Saturday for repairs. I also saw a good deal of extra sales."

Another merchant said that at noon his cash register had more business chalked up than for all of the previous Saturday's business, and the bulk of a Saturday's trade comes usually in the evening. Considerable business was also done with the show people, many of whom had some Saturday shopping to do.

The chief reason why merchants dislike to see a show come to town on a Saturday is that they figure that they'll have a good trade anyhow on that day, and that if the show comes on a week day it will bring an extra big day.

CHURCH LEAGUE TO OPEN TUESDAY

Catholics and First Presbyterians to Meet in First Struggle of Season

The Charleroi church league will open this week for the ensuing season the first game to be played tomorrow night, when the First Presbyterians and Catholics will meet. Today will be spent by the league keepers in fixing up the grounds, which were considerably torn up on Saturday by the circus. The games for the week are as follows: Tuesday—First Presbyterians and Catholics; Wednesday—Lutherans and Christians; Thursday—Methodists and Episcopalians; Friday—Washington Avenue Presbyterians and Baptists.

BRIGADE TO HOLD VACATION OUTING

Will Camp at Conneaut Lake—Capt. Wallgren to Head Company

In order to secure funds for a camping outing the Boys Brigade of the Washington avenue church conducted a refreshment stand on the vacant lot on Second street near the show grounds Saturday. They did very well and netted a creditable sum. They also propose to hold a supper to still further augment the fund at the Washington avenue Presbyterian church Tuesday night.

The outing will be held on the shores of Conneaut Lake, where the Brigade will camp for ten days, during the first two weeks in June. The brigade will be in charge of Capt. Charles Wallgren, a veteran of the Spanish-American war, who has command of the local organization. It is stated that a number of members of the Boys Brigade from other towns want to join the Charleroi command in the outing.

TWENTY-TWO ARE NABBED BY POLICE

Nineteen Men and Three Women Constitute Guests at Borough Lockup

Nineteen men and three women—that was the toll of the police drag-net on circus day Saturday. There were three fights, but drunkenness formed the worst and most conspicuous violation. The three women, two whites and one colored were arrested for drunkenness. They were each fined $1.00 and costs, and all forced to spend their Sunday in the female quarters of the lockup. The average fine for the men when Burgess Risbeck held court Sunday morning was $1.00 and costs.

It was a noticeable feature that while the trouble originated because of circus day, none of it came directly from the circus. People were here from up and down the river. Two California men came and it is said acquired too heavy a load of fire water with the result that they decided to fight it out. They did, and the police took a hand.

A man named Leyda of Charleroi, apparently well under the influence of liquor, it is stated deliberately hit a man knocking him down. He then it is stated resisted arrest, but was unceremoniously cast in the darkest cell of the borough lockup. It is probable that Chief of Police C. W. Albright will enter information against him before a justice, Leyda having offended before.

Practically all the other disturbances were of a minor character.

DIES FROM INJURIES RECEIVED IN A MINE

BACCALAUREATE FIRST COMMENCEMENT EVENT

Sunday Ball Flourishing

Donora Team Play Mt. Oliver and Beat Them—Opposition Develops

In spite of the protests of the ministerial association of Donora and certain of the church people of that place, Sunday baseball is flourishing there. Sunday the Mt. Oliver team played and got beaten by the score of 5 to 1. Sutherland, a Monongahela valley boy pitched for Donora, and Guder and Makepeace, formerly of the Charleroi Independents, were on the receiving line. Freund and Hirth formed the battery for the Mt. Oliver baseballers.

Not long ago the ministerial association and church people circulated a petition asking the authorities to prevent Sunday baseball. The promoters of the enterprise apparently paid no attention. A big crowd attended the game.

It will make stops at West Monessen, Donora, Monongahela, and Clairton, reaching Pittsburgh in an hour and eleven minutes.

Another change will be in the return of the same train, which will leave Pittsburgh at 4:55 o'clock, reaching Charleroi at 6:21. It has been reaching here at 6:31. This train will not be nearly so fast as one as the morning train inbound, and there has been some dissatisfaction expressed as a result.

FIVE-YEAR-OLD BUMPS INTO BUGGY

Edgar George, the five-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph George of Washington avenue, had a narrow escape from injury Sunday evening when he got in front of a buggy driven by Dr. D. E. Kimmell. The lad was at the corner of Fifth street and Fallowfield avenue, when suddenly his attention was attracted by something across the street. He started on a run. Just at that time Mr. Kimmell drove up and the lad bumped into the wheel. Fortunately he was not seriously hurt.

Rev. F. A. Richards Preaches to High School Class

MUST ACQUIRE WISDOM

Charges Graduates to Not Live For Material Things Alone

That wisdom comes from God is the wisdom one must have to succeed was the general theme of the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of High School preached by Rev. F. A. Richards at the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday evening. Rev. Richards had as his text, Proverbs 21:3 and 4, which treat of the true wisdom and its source. The church was filled to overflowing for the occasion, and the scene with the eleven members of the class and the members of the faculty occupying special seats directly in front of the minister, was striking one.

Rev. Richards spoke of character building as an every day occurrence and said that the kind of wisdom needed as the architect for this character building was not of the sort that says the end justify the means, but of the moral and spiritual kind, which is the wisdom through religion.

Rev. Richards spoke of the need of a broad intellect, but warned the young people against the somewhat common error of leaving Divine things out of the reckoning when building up the intellectual character. His closing words were:

"Young people of the graduating class: Be sure that you get wisdom—wisdom that comes from God. Let him be the architect of your fortune, that your destiny will be not only to grow in knowledge but in wisdom."

The service was really a union service, and Revs. John R. Burson, E. N. Duty, J. T. Hackett and C. P. Bastian assisted Rev. Richards. Special chorus music was rendered by the choir of the Methodist Episcopal Bosson. Miss Norma Bosson rendered church under the direction of A. E. ed a violin solo.

Class night will be observed Tuesday and commencement Thursday.

SUNDAY CONCERT FEATURE AT PARK

The first Sunday of the opening of Eldora Park drew large attendance. Many took occasion to spend a part of the day in the open there and people were in attendance from all along the valley. Louhi's Monessen band gave two concerts, one in the afternoon and one in the evening, which added to the pleasure of the beautiful surroundings. Two picnics are to be held at the park this week. There are the Charleroi public schools and the Monongahela public schools which will hold forth on Thursday and Friday respectively.

PARTY NOT DISRUPTED.

Because there happens to be a hot contest for the nomination for the Presidency between President W. H.
Taft and Col. Theodore Roosevelt, the impression seems to prevail in certain quarters that the Republican party is disrupted and that the nomination of either will bring about a defeat. To loyal Republicans who place party principles above personal and preferences, this will not make a bit of difference. The selection of either of these two candidates is merely a matter of preference, even with the contest waxing warm and usual in a number of aspects.
The conditions are the same in every District and State where the primary election for nomination candidates prevails. Candidates contest hotly for the various nominations, whose adherents never hesitate in showing their party symbols or wavering in fealty.

As a matter of fact the primary election is designed to arouse conscience between candidates instead of relating them as in done when the people have no voice in the nomination.

The contest between President Taft and Col. Roosevelt is unusual chiefly from the fact that the slating of President Taft for a renomination is being contested, instead of being unopposed as heretofore. It does not follow, however, that the party is disrupted because the voters propose to have a voice in the nomination. On the contrary it shows an awakened interest, and one that is in line with the popular idea of representative government. The nomination of either President Taft or Col. Roosevelt need not be disastrous to party success. When the choice of a candidate has been settled there is all the more reason why Republicans should get together and support the choice of the party.

A FLY CATECHISM.

The following questions and answers were prepared by the Indiana state board of health and have been widely copied. The school board of Ashtville, N. C., caused them to be pasted in the spelling books used in the graded schools of the city.

Where is the fly born? In manure and filth.

Where does the fly live? In every kind of filth.

Is anything too filthy for the fly to eat? No.

Where does he go when he leaves the surface closet and the manure pile and the spittoon? Into the kitchen and dining room.

What does he do there? He walks on the bread, fruit and vegetables. He wipes his feet on the butter and bathes in the milk.

Does the fly visit the patient sick with typhoid fever, consumption and cholera infantum? Yes, he may call on you next.

Is the fly dangerous? He is man's worst pest and more dangerous than wild beasts or rattlesnakes.

What disease does the fly carry?
He carries typhoid fever, consumption and summer complaint. How?
On his wings and hairy feet. What is his correct name? Typhoid fly.

Did he ever kill any one? He killed more American soldiers during the Spanish-American war than did the bullets of the Spaniards.

Where are the greatest number of cases of typhoid fever, consumption and summer complaints? Where there are the most flies.

Where are the most flies? Where there is the most filth.

Why should we kill the fly? Because he may kill us.

When shall we kill the fly? Kill him before he gets wings. Kill him when he is a maggot in the manure pile. Kill him while he is in the egg state.

How? Keep the stables dry and clean and don't allow any manure to stay on the premises longer than one week. Have all other filth and trash accumulating on your premises removed or burned at least once a week.

If your neighbor fails to comply with these rules and allows flies to breed on his premises to visit you, screen your doors and windows and keep them out.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"How did you happen to select Charleroi for a date?" one of the Ringling Brothers show people was asked Saturday, when the subject of cramped facilities here was under discussion.

"We took it as a filler between Uniontown and Pittsburg," was the reply. "Our itinerary brought us to Uniontown on Friday, and as we have a two days' booking at Pittsburg, to have jumped there from Uniontown would have given us Saturday and Monday in Pittsburg, with Sunday as an idle day between. All our men would have been idle then, and with the lures and attractions of big city at their disposal, our force would have become badly demoralized. So we selected an intermediary date for Saturday. That will put us in Pittsburg Sunday, and our men will be busy the greater part of the day putting up the tents and equipment, and the ordinary duties of the next two days will hold them in line. Of course some will fall by the wayside, but that is to be expected with so big a force as we carry. Preventing an idle Sunday in a big city however saves us lots of trouble.

"But why did you pick Charleroi in preference to some of the other towns in the valley for the Saturday date?"

"Oh, Charleroi is by all odds the best town in the upper Monongahela valley. Every show router concedes that. A comparison of the business puts Charleroi away ahead of all the others. It's the most accessible town to outsiders for one thing, and it has a reputation as a central gathering point for the whole section. Any showman will tell you that."

"Ringling's Show has the best system of loading and unloading of any circus I ever saw, and I have had experience with all the biggest ones and most of the smaller ones," said a railroad man after attending to his duties in connection with his work circus day.

"There isn't any fuss about getting things in their right places. Take for instances their loading after the show was over. The last show was finished about 10:40 or 10:45, and the last bit of baggage had been loaded on the last of the 86 cars by 12:30.

"As an example of the perfect system which they have, I saw 28 horses hitched to a wagon. Two men were on the wagon seat. When everything was ready one of the men gave a vigorous whistle. Instantly and with one accord these horses buckled down to their work and moved the wagon away with its heavy load.

"Another thing I noticed was the absolute quiet that prevailed among the workmen. About midnight I saw one employe get a bit out of humor because of the failure of things to go just right. He let out an oath, much as many a man would do in his place.
Instantly the overseer stepped up, put his hand on his shoulder and quietly said:

"Here, Joe, don't do that. You know it isn't right, and isn't allowed."

"We have reason to appreciate a show that is like that in the enforcement of its rules."

"When I see pale, puny children on parents are doing, if anything, to build up their strength, said a well dressed man the other day.

Mary Lang of Altoona, Pa., was one such child. Her story is told in one of her own letters. "Ever since childhood," she says, "I have been weak and delicate and my blood has been thin and poor. Many different forms of treatment did me no good but last spring I took Vinol and now I am so much stronger and better that I want you to know it. I don't know when I have felt so well and vigorous as I have since taking Vinol."

We only wish that every weak, rundown sickly person would realize that Vinol is the one best remedy to enrich the blood, build up the body and put the glow of health in pale

Vinol, so you can see we believe in it.

THE PRIMER OF SUCCESS

Do you want a position?
Do you want a girl?
Do you want to rent your furnished room?
Do you want to sell your house?
Do you want to sell your eggs, poultry or live stock?
Have you lost anything?
Have you anything to trade?
Do you want to sell your piano?

There are many who want to do one or the other of these things. Most of them don't know how to go about it. If they could only tell the people what they want they would be all right.
If they could only let the people know without disclosing their identity that might be better still.

If you want to buy, sell or secure any of the above, or if you want to trade anything, did it ever occur to you that the best thing in the world to do is to use the Classified Columns of the Mail.

Why do we give you this advice? To make business for ourselves? Certainly! To help you?
Just as certainly! We are the medium between you and what you want. You just place a cent-a-word advertisement with us and we spread this advertisement before Five Thousand People Every Day. That is the market with which we bring you into touch. Isn't the advantage of being placed in touch with 5,000 people worth this insignificant sum?

Try it, and you will reap the benefit of your advertisement a thousand fold

"LOOK OUT FOR THE CARS"

DO YOU know of anyone who is old enough to read, who has not seen this sign at a railroad crossing?

If everyone has seen it at some time or other, then why doesn't the railroad let the sign rot away? Why does the railroad sanitary continue to keep these signs at every crossing?

Maybe you think, Mr. Merchant,
"Most everybody knows my store, I don't have to advertise."

Your store and your goods need more advertising than the railroads need do to warn people to "Look Out for the Cars."

Nothing is ever completed in the advertising world.

The Department Stores are a very good example—they are continually advertising—and they are continually doing a good business.

If it pays to run a few ads round about Christmas time, it certainly will pay you to run advertisements about all the time.

It's just business, that's all.

HINTS TO THE HANDICAPPED

Writer in Atlantic Monthly Tells Them How They May Make Most of Life.

Grow up as fast as you can. Cultivate the widest interest you can, and cherish all your friends. Cultivate some artistic talent, for you will find it the most durable of satisfactions, and perhaps one of the surest means of livelihood as well. Achievement is, of course, on the knees of the gods; but you will at least have the thrill of trial, and, after all, not to try is to fail. Taking your disabilities for granted, and assuming constantly that they are being taken for granted, make your social intercourse as broad and as constant as possible. Do not take the world too seriously, nor let too many social conventions oppress you. Keep sweet your sense of humor, and above all do not let any morbid feelings of inferiority creep into your soul. You will find yourself sensitive enough to the sympathy of others, and if you do not find persons who like you and are willing to meet you more than half way, it will be because you have let your disability narrow your vision and shrink up your soul. It will be really your own fault, and not that of your circumstances. In a word, keep looking outward; look out eagerly for those things that interest you, for persons who will interest you and be friends with you, for new interests and for opportunities to express yourself.—Atlantic Monthly.

CANNIBALS WHO CHEW GUM

Traveler Finds the Series Kindly and Affectionate and Quite Without Deadly Weapons.

Though it seems rather a pity to shatter romantic illusions and myths in a world from which romance (of that kind, anyway) is fading rapidly, yet it must be said that there are only two old, useless rifles in the hands of the tribe, and at the time of our visit only two bows and a couple of quivers full of arrows, not one of which was headed. And now they haven't those, for we bought them for souvenirs.

Among themselves, at any rate, however they may have behaved to strangers in the past, the Series were as kindly and even affectionate a lot of people as I have ever had the good fortune to encounter. Never did we see a mother or father slap a child. Never was anger displayed or irritation. They were continually sharing with each other the little gifts we made them. Really, you know, when you see a group of alleged cannibals sharing chewing-gum (the first they had ever tasted) from mouth to mouth and enjoying themselves hugely, respect for travelers' tales of blood and thunder goes down a peg or two.—Michael Williams in Outing.

Lessons in Etiquette.

Those who have dined in restaurants or hotels, habitually will find that they have fallen into many unpleasant little ways, permissible possibly toward a landlord, but not toward a hostess. They feel that they have the privilege both to criticize openly and to imply criticism either of the food itself or of the way in which it is served. Women who cherish the ambition of making poor, forlorn habits of hotels happy with "home cooking" have their hopes dashed by this ungracious habit. Let those, too, who have fallen into the habit of dipping a spoon or fork into a glass of water and then wiping it on a napkin before using it beware of those moments when they become deeply absorbed in conversation at the house of a friend or even at the home table. Could any habit be more insulting to a hostess?—Harper's Bazar.

A Stupid Hunter.

Returning from two months spent on a ranch he was telling a story of hunting in the hills with an Englishman.

"All of us were out hunting one day," said he, "and the Englishman shot at everything that moved. If the wind carried a cloud of dust upward, you could depend on 'is' luckship to shoot at it. So it happened that he narrowly missed shooting a young woman, who, with her husband, was visiting on the ranch. When our party returned the husband, boiling angry, approached the Englishman and said:

"Look here, you damned stupid ass, you missed shooting my wife by an inch."

"Aw, missed her!" said the Englishman, either a-ousted or perplexed. "By an inch, by Jove? Well, old man, I'm sorry, very sorry."

Nails in Hard Wood.

It will be found almost impossible to drive thin steel nails into hard wood, for the moment you hit them hard enough to puncture the wood they bend over on themselves.

Many people employ the use of a small gimlet to bore the hole destined to hold the nail, and few people know that if yellow soap is rubbed on the nail it can be driven in the hardest wood with ease.

This trick was learned by a carpenter, who discovered it accidentally.

Now whenever he is working with hard wood he keeps a cake of soap near by and sticks it full of nails, using them as he needs them.

He also has a deep hole cut in the handle of his favorite hammer and keeps it filled with soap in which to stick the nails if the cake of soap is not conveniently near.

WHERE PLATINUM IS FOUND

Rare Metal in Small Quantities Usually Is Associated With Gold in Gravel Beds.

Platinum is found associated with gold, principally in gravel beds. The ordinary source is accumulations of gravel which have been eroded from extensive area and gradually concentrated in one locality by the continued action of water. It is a rare metal and the accumulation must be from a great extent of country if a paying deposit is to be developed.

Platinum is of a silver gray color which is rarely tarnished. Its development is similar to gold, except that where gold is usually associated with quartz and light colored rocks platinum will be found more commonly with dark colored rocks, and especially those of a greenish shading.

It is found only in small quantities, except at two or three localities. Western Colombia and eastern Russia have gravel beds which afford the principal supply of this metal. Elsewhere it is found over considerable areas, but not sufficiently concentrated to be of importance. It may be looked for among the formations adjacent to regions of old volcanic activity.

The distribution is principally in altered rocks, and segregation seems to have been the principal cause contributing to its collection in ore bodies. The deposits found up to the present time have been of irregular mineralization and not of great extent, consequently all platinum deposits must be considered with caution.

Of the rare metals associated with platinum, iridium, osmium, palladium and others, little need be said because of their rarity. If found they will be associated with platinum and will be known by the greater hardness, brighter surface and greater specific gravity.—Moody's Magazine.

THREAD DOES SLEUTH WORK

Milwaukee Merchant Devises a Clever Scheme to Get Rid of a Troublesome Shoplifter.

The manager of a local department store took an efficacious method of ridding himself of a troublesome petty shoplifter recently. The woman has been coming into the store and picking up a small remnant, spool of thread, thimble or other article that happened to be lying about, having little intrinsic value, but being nevertheless a source of annoyance to both the clerk and the management. Because of the position of the woman, it was undesirable to institute an action.

A few days ago the manager took a spool of silk from the case, fastened the loose end of the thread with a tack, and allowing a bit of slack, left it upon the counter. It was not long before his party arrived, and deftly dropping the spool into her shopping bag, started out. The manager detached the loose end and followed her up the street, a few yards in the rear. He trailed her into another downtown store, and, as she was standing beside a counter in the midst of a crowded array of bargain seekers, approached her, calmly winding his thread and politely said:

"Madame, I'll trouble you for that spool of thread."

What followed can be more easily imagined than described. He got the thread and has not been troubled with losses since, nor have the other stores, so far as may be learned.—Milwaukee Free Press.

Bearded "Ladies."

M. Brandt, a Danish professor, comes to the conclusion that bearded ladies in time to come will be the order of the day. Ladies with beards who are now to be seen may be regarded as the precursors of the future race, and the professor comes to the conclusion that the more masculine woman becomes in her habits so much the more will she be in appearance. He does not think that bearded ladies will become general until at least two centuries have elapsed. His investigations show that the number of women with traces of mustaches, although clearly visible, increases but slowly. The Paris contemporary from which we take the foregoing suggests that the professor has missed the great point which he might have made and that is that as the number of men who shave increases daily it would follow that women would endeavor to grow beards from sheer perversity.

"Aeropotomanie."

Some months ago a learned professor at the Sorbonne wrote to the Parisian papers proposing that the word "petomane" be used as a term to designate the aviator, the word petomane being based, he explained, on the Greek root "pet," to fly. Another learned person says that the word harks back to the earliest days of aeronautics, and quotes from Der Deutsche Merkur (the German Mercury), published by Wieland at Weimar, in October, 1783, which speaks of "Aeropotomanie," or the latest progress in flying.

The Ruling Passion.

"How is Mrs. Dumley? I understand the doctor gave her up?"

"Yes, he did. But she's better. The other day she thought she was sinking and sent in a hurry for her women neighbors."

"Well."

"In ten minutes they were all playing bridge."

"EIGHTS" ARE THEIR HOODOOS

Postal Clerks Say Stamps of That Denomination Cause Them Much Financial Loss.

When a meek little man stepped up to the stamp window in a branch office and asked for an eight cent stamp he caused as much consternation as if he had demanded "your money or your life."

All the clerks came to the window to take a look at him. They muttered to one another and made strange and fantastic signs, crossed their fingers, knocked on wood and did various other things that are supposed to drive away evil spirits.

"We're just out of eight cent stamps," a clerk finally stammered. "Got lots of two and ones."

"Well, gimme a five and a three," said the meek little man, upon receiving which he paid for them and departed.

"What's the matter with the eight?" queried an inquisitive spectator.

The stamp clerk was still too nervous to answer, but one of the others said, with a smile:

"Eights are hoodoos. None of the small offices handle them if they can help it. It's this way: They are just a wee shade different in color from the ones and it is no infrequent thing for a stamp clerk in a hurry to hand out a lot of eights when ones are asked and paid for. It always costs him seven cents a stamp when he does it. The clerk here the other day, during the rush hour, when the offices are closing, was called upon for a dollar's worth of ones. He handed out a hundred eights instead. Cost him seven dollars. Then he got rid of all the rest of the eights and now he won't have anything to do with eights. Even says 'eaten' instead of 'ate.'"

Revenge for Her Sex.

Many men make a business of marrying women, securing their money and then deserting them. One woman in New England has taken it upon herself to avenge the wrongs of her sex in this line. This woman, who is described as "young, handsome and winning," is charged with having "fitted" from one military post to another, making her choice from the eligible young officers, captivating them, becoming the bride of each in turn, securing all the money possible from each and then "fitted" again. She has shown that the opposite sex has no monopoly in this sort of business. But whether she is actuated by desire to prove such condition or by purposes of gain is not made evident.—Chicago Journal.

The "Civil War."

Hereafter it may be officially "the Civil war" instead of "the war of the rebellion." If an amendment to a bill adopted by the house of representatives at Washington shall go through. The action is not of much moment one way or another. The American public have dropped into the habit of calling the great struggle the Civil war, and no one will seriously oppose the new usage in congressional enactments. In fact, the change is in its way significant of the better feeling and stronger nationality that have succeeded those four years of bloody strife.

Plea for Lives of Birds.

"One billion dollar loss each year is suffered by farmers and fruit growers of this country by reason of the reckless and senseless destruction of bird life," declared the president of the League of American Sportsmen, Pa. He is a recognized authority on the subject of American game and declares that reliable statistics show that the crop values of the country are $1,000,000,000 a year less than they would be if birds were as plentiful as formerly, so that more insect pests would be destroyed.

Laments Forgotten Art.

We have a great many amateur hunters nowadays, and not all of them understand how to blow a horn, or have the knowledge of the few calls which are in these degenerate times used in hunting. Even among professional hunters the science of the hunting horn is much neglected.—London Illustrated Sporting and Dramatic News.

Unmarried Women in Cities.

In Chicago, out of every 1,000 women in the age period from 25 to 29, at the last count, there were 314 who were unmarried. In Denver there were 331. In Manhattan and the Bronx there were 356. In Minneapolis there were 369. In Philadelphia there were 387.

The Model Hired Girl.

The following testimonial was given to a servant girl: "This is to certify that the bearer has been in my service one year less 11 months. During this time I found her to be diligent at the back door, temperate at her work, prompt at excuses, amiable toward young men, faithful to her sweethearts and honest when everything was safe under lock and key."

WHY WOMEN GO TO PRISON

Most of Them Err Through Idleness, Unwise Marriages, Ignorance, Youth and Friendliness.

The causes that bring women to prison are seldom of personal or even of direct moral significance. Women seldom use their wits to break the law, nor do most of their crimes demand a quick intelligence. They are in the main the result of a lack of training in trades, inconsiderate marriages, ignorance, youth, friendliness, the general unguided condition of girls; non-employment, low wages, overcrowding in tenements, nervous tension, and the high-pressure life of the average female factory employee. These and other like causes produce the so-called artificial offenses, such as inebriety, unruliness and minor breaches of the law which are mostly the result of overstrain. It has often been said that the barometer of crime rises as that of prosperity falls; and this is particularly true as regards the crimes of women. The thousands of women factory workers in every manufacturing city are never more than a few days from actual want. Given a period of overproduction or a depression in trade, and the women's prisons fill with these despairing, idle workers. In New England, when the factories are running with a full force of operatives, there is a decided slump in the prison population, for all goes well with even these weaker spirits so long as they earn enough to eat every day and have a place to sleep every night.—From "The Care of Women in State Prisons," by Jeanne Robert, in the American Review of Reviews.

Fish That Eat Oysters.

As a result of recent investigations, T. Southwell finds that the fishes most destructive to pearl oysters are those commonly known as globe fish. Another fish belonging to the group known as Pagrus is seldom or never found without oysters in its stomach. The larger species of rays and sharks are suspected of committing great ravages in the oyster beds, but hitherto Mr. Southwell has not been able to convict them by finding oysters inside them.—London Globe.

Lifting Fire Hose by Elevators.

The latest idea for raising water for fire-extinguishing purposes to the uppermost floors of tall buildings is to lift the hose by means of the passenger or freight elevators. A simple attachment is provided for affixing the hose to the floor of the elevator, the pipe being coiled up in the bottom of the shaft so as to be easily raised.

In a recent demonstration at Memphis, Tenn., says Popular Mechanics, it was said that the water arrived at the sixth floor of a building practically as soon as the floor was reached by the elevator, and the fire chief of that city recommended the compulsory adoption of the device by all buildings provided with elevators. The hose is inserted in the attachment about two sections behind the discharge nozzle, these sections being coiled on the elevator floor.

Of Course.

A man in a nearby town fell down the cellar steps the other day with a barrel of apples on top of him. He broke his left leg, his right arm, two ribs, his nose, one finger, cut his scalp, sprained his ankle and put his shoulder out of joint. But he didn't groan or cuss until his wife inquired if it "hurt him." Then he did both.

Old Colliery Closed.

Tranent colliery, Haddingtonshire, from which coal has been taken for nearly 700 years, was closed recently. For many years women went down the mines at Tranent and worked with the men. One or two old women who were formerly engaged in the mines are still living in the district.—London Daily Mail.

Her Fault.

A certain Scotch professor was left a widower in his old age. Not very long after he suddenly announced his intention of marrying again, half apologetically, adding: "I never would have thought of it, if Lizzie hadn't died."—Harper's Weekly.

New Swimming Machine.

Providing a cork jacket, which keeps the wearer upright in the water, with a propeller driven by two cranks, a New Yorker has invented a device which is a variation from most styles of swimming machines.

An exchange remarks that with the dictograph and the automobile searchlight, the way of the transgressor is hard. But the exchange probably doesn't figure that the transgressor is likely to steal both the dictograph and the automobile.

TROLLEY LINES HANDLE CROWDS

Practically All Available Cars

Put Into Use on Saturday

The incoming and outgoing crowds coming from and returning to nearby towns were well handled Saturday by the Pittsburgh Railways company, the Westside trolley line and the Pennsylvania railroad. Extra cars were run on both the trolley lines and the railroad used extra coaches.

C. R. Buchanan, the division superintendent of the Pittsburgh-Charleroi line looked after the crowds coming from Roscoe, Monongahela, Donora and other towns by car and saw to it that they were well provided for. There were immense crowds streaming into town all day long and even Donora cars were sent here. Owing to Mr. Buchanan and his competent force, there was practically no delay, everybody reaching their destination in good time.

Crowds came from Monessen and Belle Vernon by the Westside line. It is said every available car was in use. From California and Brownsville and even from Rice's Landing came by train. There were even visitors seen here from Carmichaels and other parts of Greene county.

Will Visit Italy.

Cares for the Birds.

Many women have taken great interest in the Audubon society, a concrete illustration being the Mary Dutcher memorial fund and the Sage fund. The Mary Dutcher fund was named in memory of the daughter of Mr. Dutcher, who was the spirit of the Audubon society organization; $7,548 has been contributed to the fund by the friends of Mr. Dutcher. Mrs. Sage, who loves birds and all wild animals, began her work by a gift of $500, to be used for the care of the robins, and a few days afterwards she followed the gift with another of $5,000, as she had found that in the South the robin is regarded as a game bird, and consequently needs better protection. She will give $5,000 for the next two years to make the protection of this bird more adequate. Field agents will be engaged with the funds she has placed at the disposal of the society, and they will try to see that any law in reference to the bird is obeyed.

A Cure for the Blues.

What! Moping just because the skies are dull and dark, and gray? Dejected, long faced just because the rain beats down today? Why, bless you, child! It doesn't help! To let the tears drip, too. Just wipe your eyes and look around. For some good work to do.

There's nothing helps when you are blue. Like helping set things right, Kind service fills the darkest day. With sweetness and with light, And when you're feeling out of sorts The very wisest plan Is to find out what others want And help them all you can.

So look around and study up Some helpful thing to do; You'll find that cheering others' lives Will brighten life for you. Look up the real unfortunates And ease their aches and pains, And while you feel you're doing good You'll never know it rains!

Growsome Revenge.

"You invite a great many people whom you don't really like to accompany you on your private yacht." "Yes," replied the cynical person. "I enjoy watching 'em get seasick."

fourths as many at night. Those who sized up the crowds estimate that from 14,000 to 15,000 were in attendance at the two performances. The show itself was away above the ordinary—the best that money can produce, inasmuch as this is the biggest show on the road and takes in all the big cities in its itinerary. The Joan of Arc pageant and ballet was on a scale of magnificence parallel to the biggest spectacular scenes attempted in theatres, to witness which people pay more than the admission price of the circus. The acts were the leading and newest thrills in the acrobatic, equestrian and hippodrome line, and everything was original, genuine, with no fakes or make-believes. The menagerie was much larger than that ordinarily carried, and some remarkably fine specimens were shown—two rhinoceros, one of them a two-horned specimen. A giraffe, a rare animal in captivity, was also to be seen. There were 34 elephants and nearly a score of camels with the outfit.

The street parade was the biggest ever seen in Charleroi, the glittering and showy pageant taking more than half an hour to pass a given point.

The big show came and went with less confusion or excitement than attended the coming and going of the outside spectators. For a day the population was augmented by a well drilled and organized town, and the horses, if have turned loose, would have stocked a good-sized western ranch. Charleroi people were fortunate in getting an opportunity to witness the Ringling Brothers shows at home, as this point was only selected as a filler between Uniontown and Pittsburgh to prevent an idle day in the latter city.

was chosen by his tribe in pioneer days because of his expert knowledge in combining medicines from roots and herbs to cure diseases. They could conquer diseases that today, baffle the most skilled physicians who have spent years in the study of drugs.

From the roots and herbs of the field Lydia E. Pinkham nearly forty years ago gave to the women of the world a remedy for female ills deemed more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs. Today Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is recognized the world over as the standard remedy for female ills.
